Pink Wallace, a negro man well known in the city, was found dead in the cellar of the grocery store of Power & Cater, on North Main street, Saturday night. His body was discovered by some negro boys, who reported the matter to Mr. Power. The police authorities were promptly notified, and an inquest was held by Coroner Banister over the body. An examination of the dead man's body was made by Dr. Harris, who found a number of slight bruises on the head and face, caused by falling. He said that death resulted from nature's causes; that Wallace was stricken with heart failure and fell to the floor dead.

Supervisor J. N. Vandiver and Supervisor Speagle, of Greenville, met in Piedmont last Wednesday, and together the two county officers inspected the work done by the contractors on the new bridge across Saluda River at that point, which was found to be in conformity with the contract and duly accepted.

This unique announcement appeared in an exchange of recent date: "At the earnest solicitation of myself, my wife and numerous children, I have decided to become a candidate for the office of coroner. I need the office in my business, and hope you will give me your votes, as I am too darn poor to pay for 'em."

Married, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the home of her brother-in-law, W. S. Hall, in this city, Mr. W. T. Mounce, of Pendleton, and Miss Lela S. Kay, of this city, Rev. W. B. Hawkins performing the ceremony. They left on the afternoon train for Pendleton, where they will make their future home.

Col. M. P. Tribble, who has charge of the work of collecting and compiling the Confederate rolls of this State, has about completed the task. It is impossible just now to estimate the number placed on the rolls, as a new copy will have to be made. This will be forwarded to the secretary of war as soon as completed.

Rev. T. P. Bell, of Atlanta, editor of the Christian Index, has been spending a few days in the city visiting his brother, E. C. Bell, and attending the B. Y. P. U. convention. Mr. Bell was at one time pastor of the First Baptist Church in Anderson, and his visit was a source of much pleasure to his many old friends in this section.

The Columbia State says that the Assistant Attorney General has rendered an opinion that registration books for county and State elections may be opened on other days than the first Mondays in a month by inserting an advertisement in a newspaper two weeks in advance. This applies to towns of over 500 inhabitants.

The annual election of officers of Grace Episcopal Church was held last week, and resulted as follows: E. A. Bell, senior warden; R. C. Webb, junior warden; S. M. Orr, F. L. Fuller, M. L. Bonham, F. After giving notice for the period required by law, a meeting of the stockholders will be held on April 30th to ratify the action of the directors."

A. M. Arnold, a safe-cracker who was arrested in Charleston several months ago, for forging money orders on the postoffice at Aiken, and who is supposed to have been a member of the gang which robbed the safe of the Courtenay Manufacturing Company at Newry and that of Mr. Horton, a merchant at Lowndesville, was tried in the United States court at Charleston Wednesday, and convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Baxter Kay, a young man employed at the Orr Mills, was seriously injured last Wednesday, receiving severe bruises about the head and face. No one saw how the accident occurred, but it is supposed that the young man was caught in the shafting of the machinery. When found he was in a state of unconsciousness. It was feared at first that the injury would prove fatal, but the young man is now improving and will doubtless soon recover. He was attended by Dr. J. O. Sanders.

The local freight train running between Anderson and McCormick, on the Charleston & Western Carolina Railroad, has been taken off. All freight traffic will be handled by the other train that reaches here in the morning and returns to McCormick in the afternoon. There is considerable local travel on this train, and it is to be hoped that the people along the line will not be deprived of the opportunity they have enjoyed of coming into the city with ample time to do their shopping in the middle of the day.

W. G. Ragsdale died on Wednesday, 6th inst., at his home in the Calhoun section, about four miles east of Belton, after an illness of about two weeks with pneumonia, aged 37 years. Mr. Ragsdale was an industrious and well-to-do farmer, and a most worthy, upright citizen, who was most highly esteemed by all of his friends and acquaintances. On Thursday his remains were interred at Shady Grove Church, Rev. C. W. Bussess conducting the funeral services. His death is the third that has occurred in the family within the past year, his mother and oldest brother having preceded him to the grave about a year ago. He leaves a wife and five little children to cherish his memory, and they have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.
